Looking to gain RESEARCH experience?
Want a JOB ON CAMPUS this summer?

Earn money and gain unique, hands-on research experience as a Summer Undergraduate Research Assistant at Northwestern’s Institute for Policy Research

- Pay is $10.40 per hour
- Students typically work 35 hours per week for 10 weeks, but schedules can be flexible
- Those majoring in social science fields are preferred, but all majors are welcome
- Some possibility of continued work with professors during the academic year
- Previous research experience is a plus, but not necessarily required

At the beginning of the program, students will participate in a training session on statistical methods and computing, as well as “how to be a good research assistant.”

HOW TO APPLY

To apply, follow this link: http://tinyurl.com/ptw98he and submit your information.

This year, student applications will only be accepted by this online application method.

Applications should include an unofficial transcript; a resume that describes the applicant’s education, work experience, and computer skills; and a short personal statement.

The deadline for applications is February 28, 2015. However, students are advised to apply early, as faculty members may begin reviewing applications at any time.

ELIGIBILITY

The program is open to all Northwestern freshmen, sophomores, and juniors.

Graduating seniors and students from other institutions not eligible.

Selection will be based on the student’s record, the faculty member’s proposed research, and the proposed role of the student in that research.

For more information, visit www.ipr.northwestern.edu/about/student-research/surap/index.html